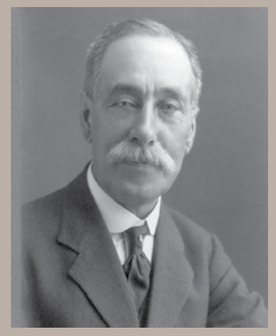
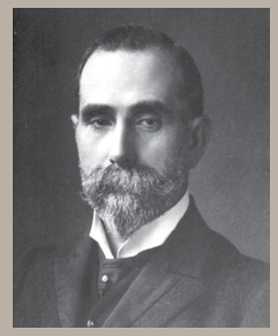
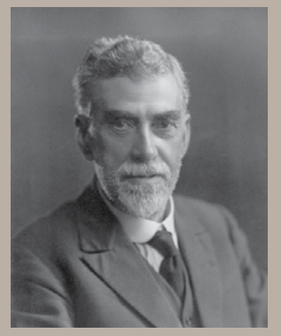
1880 A tradition is born



Mr John Loake



Mr Thomas Loake



Mr William Loake

The Loake family has been making traditional English shoes for longer than anyone can remember.

My great-grandfather John opened the first Loake factory with his brothers, Thomas and William, back in 1880. 135 years later, with the fifth generation involved in the business, the Loake association with fine, handmade shoes lives on.

As the current custodians of Loake, we are immensely proud of the commitment of our forefathers and the tradition they worked so hard to establish - and our premium grade Goodyear welted shoes continue to be made in Kettering, England, in the factory that the three brothers built in 1894.

The Goodyear welted construction for which we are renowned is an intricate process with origins going back over 300 years. Only the very highest quality materials are used and each pair takes eight weeks to make. We still believe that there is no finer way to make a gentlemen's shoe.

We estimate that we have made over 50 million pairs of Goodyear welted shoes since we began. We now export to more than 60 countries and have become a firm favourite with discerning customers worldwide. Our aim is to uphold this tradition and continue making the most handsome, comfortable and durable footwear we can, and to make high quality, Goodyear welted shoes available and affordable to everyone.

Of course, things move on. Alongside our English Goodyear welted footwear we now design and produce a range of shoes outside the UK, using a variety of constructions. This enables us to offer a complete wardrobe of shoes suitable for almost every occasion.

Managing Director

A tradition to be proud of...

Loake is famous for its beautiful, handcrafted Goodyear welted shoes.

All of the shoes in the Loake1880 and LoakeShoemakers ranges are still made in England and they have become a firm favourite with discerning customers all over the world.

The art of our shoemaking

Making shoes of this quality takes time

The process required to make a pair of Goodyear welted Loake shoes involves approximately 75 components and 200 separate operations. On average, the whole process, from start to finish, takes 8 weeks to complete.

We believe that one of the reasons for our longstanding success is our obsession with last shape and fit. This can be subject to several alterations and a rigorous programme of trials before our exacting standards are met.

We are equally obsessive about the quality of the materials that we use. Only the finest grade leathers are chosen to ensure both the finish and the comfort of your Loake footwear.

Loake1880

This premium range emulates the way the company first manufactured its fine, handmade shoes more than 130 years ago. Combining bench-made shoemaking techniques with the highest quality materials, this is a collection to which many shoemakers can only aspire. Loake*1880 shoes are examples of Goodyear Welted footwear at its finest, and are made in our Northamptonshire factory.*

Featured Style: Perth Brown Suede

Every pair of Loake*1880 shoes is supplied with shoe bags and a spare pair of laces.*

Traditional craftsmanship and styling in a close range of Loake essentials

There are no rules broken here, quite simply, Loake aims to offer timeless designs that don't compromise quality, performance or good looks.

Like the designLoake range on the previous pages, these shoes are all designed and engineered in Kettering and made in India, using exactly the same materials, last and Goodyear welted construction that we use here in Northamptonshire.

Retail Support

Loake offers a comprehensive range of material for retailers to use in stores, from large units to smaller display items, some of which are supplied free of charge. Please speak to your local representative or contact Loake for further details.

Display Units
Loake display units come in two sizes, a two-tiered unit that can accommodate up to three styles or a larger six-tiered unit.

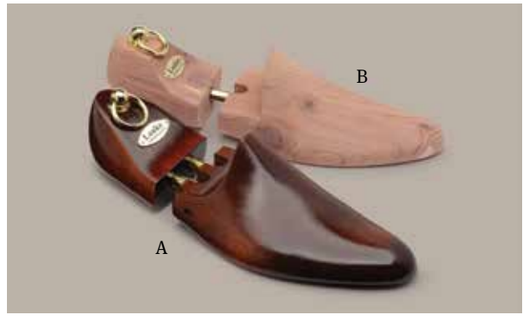
The six-tiered unit can either be secured to a wall or attached back-to-back to another unit to make a free standing tower display.

Luxury Valet Box
The Loake Valet Box contains:
Cleaning Cloth
Shoe horn
Oiled/waxy leather protector
Suede cleaner
Suede protector
Wax polishes: Black, Dark Brown, Mid Brown, Tan, Neutral and Burgundy
Small applicator brushes
Large Polishing brushes

Shoe Care
Loake shoe wax polishes, antique creams, protectors and shoe horns are all available separately. Polishes and Creams come in Black, Dark Brown, Mid Brown, Tan, Burgundy and Neutral.

Cut-up Shoes
We can supply cut-up shoes to illustrate the classic Goodyear welted construction or our unique Evolution Comfort System.

Showcards/Display Block
Our A4 showcards cover general areas of the Loake range.



Shoe Trees
We offer a stained and polished shoe tree (A) with brass detailing to enhance your display (size 8 only). We also offer an aromatic cedar shoe tree (B) in sizes: 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12/13.

Shoe Care Pouch
Our Leather Shoe Care Pouch contains the following; 1 x Cloth, 1 x Shoe horn, 2 x Wax polishes: Black and Neutral, 1 x Small applicator brush and 1 x Polishing brush.

Caring for your Loake shoes

With proper maintenance and attention, your Loake shoes will retain their excellent appearance and comfort in wear for years to come.

Leather is a natural product and your shoes will benefit if the following recommedations are observed:

1. Always use a shoehorn when putting on your shoes This will keep the backs strong and sturdy.
2. Try to wear your shoes in dry conditions for the first few occasions.
3. Fine leather shoes can require a full day to dry out from natural perspiration. Try to give them at least twenty four hours between wears.
4. Try to avoid excessive wetting. Should this occur, always let the shoes dry naturally away from direct heat. Use newspaper inside the shoes to help the leather dry out.
5. Your shoes will benefit from regular use of a good quality cream or wax polish. This helps moisturise the leather, as well as prevent cracking and excessive creasing.
6. Attaching rubber additions to the soles or heels can affect the balance and comfort of your shoes. It can also put excessive strain on the construction and lead to premature wear.

Repair Service

We are delighted to offer a full repair service at our Kettering factory. All our Goodyear welted shoes (including rubber-soled) are designed to be repairable and our expert craftsmen will resole the shoes on the original lasts. Moccasins can also be repaired with leather or rubber soles.

The service, which can normally be completed within 21 working days, includes a full refurbishing treatment. Customers should return their shoes to the shop where they were purchased to arrange the repair, or alternatively send them direct to the factory.
